

VA Community Care Network (CCN) Enhances Access to Care

★ Overview ★

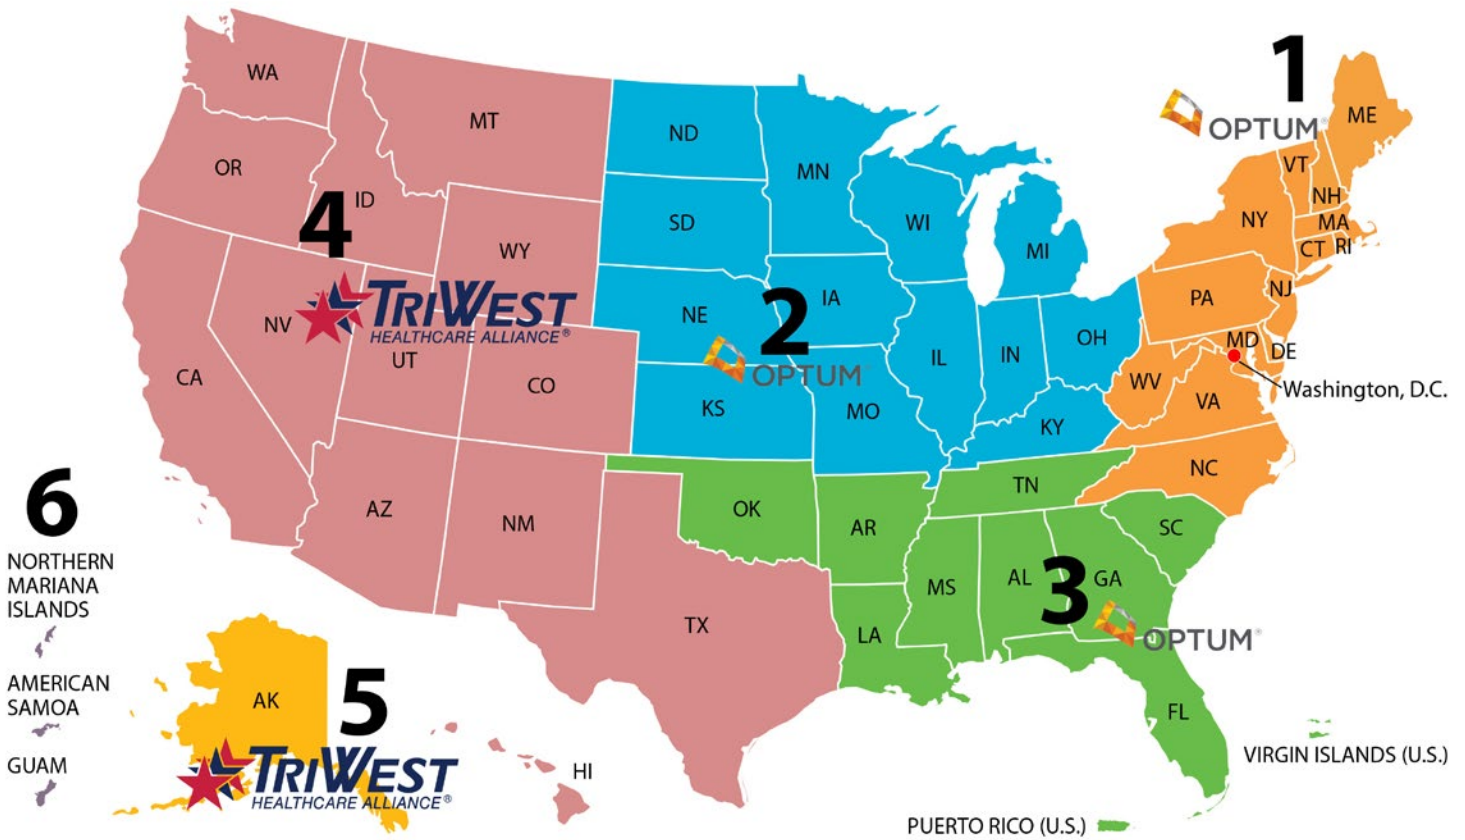

The Community Care Network (CCN) is the Department of Veterans Affairs' (VA) direct link with community providers to ensure eligible Veterans are provided with timely and high-quality care. CCN is a network of high-performing, credentialed community providers that partners with VA to provide health care to Veterans in their local community.

CCN covers all U.S. states and territories with an established set of regional boundaries aligned to state borders to provide local flexibility and increased access to care. VA relies on Third Party Administrators (TPA) to develop and administer regional networks of high-performing, licensed, and contracted health care providers. Every day, TPAs work directly with VA to make sure health care is available to eligible Veterans in the community. TriWest Healthcare Alliance is the TPA for CCN Regions 4 and 5, which encompasses the western part of the country.

CCN is being deployed in a phased approach by VA medical facilities across the country. Once fully implemented, CCN will replace the Patient-Centered Community Care (PC3) network as the preferred national network VA uses to purchase care for Veterans in their community. TriWest currently also manages the PC3 network, which serves as a critical bridge until CCN is fully deployed to ensure Veterans continue to receive the care they need.

VA awarded a contract to Optum, part of UnitedHealth Group, Inc., to serve as the TPA for CCN Regions 1, 2 and 3. VA awarded contracts to TriWest Healthcare Alliance to manage CCN Regions 4 and 5. TriWest continues to manage PC3 in Region 6 at this time.
